

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus and method for upgrading a software, including a version comparing unit for comparing a version of a software code and a version of a 5 previously installed software code to determine a newer version and an upgrade processing unit for installing the software by abstracting software data in the software code, can automatically install an upgraded system software in a corresponding apparatus for receiving digital broadcasting by detecting the code of the system software simultaneously included in an advertisement broadcasting 10 and an advertisement broadcasting signal.